

Defend their Colours!

or

Whose war is it?

(January 2025)

Nations of the Civilized West seem adamant in their desire to fight for the Freedom and Happiness of the Blue-and-Yellow Nation until her last citizen perishes.

Some are even making plans to send troops and generals to the Eastern Front.

Meanwhile:

1. One in four of the citizens under the Blue-and-Yellow Flag fled abroad as soon as convenient, with no apparent desire to return;
2. One in three of those who fled ran under the protection of the very nation at war with theirs;
3. Those under the Blue-and-Yellow Flag who did not manage to flee abroad seem mostly preoccupied with:
 - a. Evading conscription, and
 - b. Deserting en-masse whenever conscripted.

One with an academic education no higher than Kindergarten would deduce that men under the Blue-and-Yellow Flag are either:

- i. Villainous traitors, or
- ii. Abject cowards

However, one with an academic education higher than Kindergarten would attempt to dissect the anatomy of the Blue-and-Yellow people, which seems to consist of:

- A. Populations of Russian ethnicity and language, 17,000 of which were killed in Ukrainian bombardments since 2004, and an overwhelming majority of which desires to be Russian, quite understandably;
- B. Populations of Romanian, Hungarian, Slovakian, Polish, Byelorussian ethnicities and languages, with a desire to be either left to their own devices or to be reintegrated into Romania, Hungary, Slovakia, Poland, and Byelorussia;
- C. Populations of Ukrainian ethnicity and language, of which:

- a) Part couldn't possibly care less whether A or B are or aren't within Ukrainian borders, and
- b) A minority which quite unreasonably, although unequivocally, desires to impose its nationalist rule on A and B, ban all languages and cultural traits other than their own, kill whatever populations are in regions A and B, exile whatever is left, and replace these populations with their own, as is repeated daily by Ukrainian political leaders.

When Western politicians argue in unison with the Matamores that they "stand with the Ukrainian people" while flooding the country with advanced weapons and proposing to send Western troops, which section(s) of said Blue-and-Yellow "people" have they in mind?

Which section(s) do they think is (are) prepared to die for the hallowed cause stated in C-b?

Since it seems quite obvious that:

- 1) They could not possibly have section A in mind;
- 2) it is extremely unlikely that section B nurtures any nationalistic enthusiasm other than for their own and certainly not on behalf of those who are trying to subjugate them, and
- 3) by definition section C-a is not willing to die for a cause they do not give a hoot about,

do Western politicians mean only section C-b?

Surely they do not!

Or do they?

Or do they mean: "We stand with the government of those politicians who stand for section C-b."

Or rather "We stand against the Russian people", although from a safe distance, and at whatever cost in limb for the "Ukrainian people"!

In the end, those with an academic education higher than Kindergarten may be wondering:

"Whose War is it?"
