

The Missionary's Duty

(some geopolitical musing)

(December 2022)

1. Let us muse that by December 31st, 2023, the United States of America will have amended the Constitution through Amendments XXVIII to XXXI so as to:
  - a. Outlaw the penalty of death throughout the land;
  - b. Repel all laws and statutes which curtail abortion rights, throughout the land;
  - c. Mandate free universal health care for all throughout the land;
  - d. Make tertiary education free for all throughout the land.
2. By January 1st, 2024, driven by a Fervent Impulse of Moral Rectitude, and in order to Protect Democracy Abroad, the Government of the United States of America will impose severe economic sanctions and then punish militarily such foreign nations that still have not:
  - a. Outlawed the penalty of death throughout their land; or
  - b. Repelled all laws and statutes which curtail abortion rights, throughout their land; or
  - c. Mandated free universal health care for all throughout their land; or
  - d. Made tertiary education free for all throughout their land.
3. One may wonder why Russia, and all such nations that (a) do not enforce the death penalty, nor (b) curtail abortion rights, but (c) offer free universal health care to all, and (d) do not charge fees for tertiary education, have not imposed yet severe economic sanctions and then threatened to punish militarily foreign nations, such as the United States of America, which still restrict the fundamental Freedoms and Liberties of their own Peoples in such an Undemocratic fashion.
4. Perhaps Amendment XXXII should be suggested, which would enshrine in the Constitution the concepts of Undisputed Foreign Sovereignty and Jurisdiction for the rest of the world, keeping in mind that the rest of the world numbers 96% of the world's population and covers 94% of all land on the planet. The Amendment could be dubbed:

"Be Reasonable and Tolerant. Don't Bite Off More Than You Can Chew!"
