

The arrows point to that formidable elithio-pedocracy of the Baltic Sea:
the Republic of Estonia.

Her Excellency the Prime Minister of Estonia has announced her strategy to break-up her large red neighbor in as many minute constituents as possible. See our contribution next page.

Find below our modest geopolitical suggestion for the break-up.

Although Her Excellency did not divulge the detail of her strategy nor the means to achieve it, we are quite sure that she will make these public in due time.

Since Her Excellency must be privy to her neighbor being 375 times her size and 125 times her population, we mustn't doubt that her strategy is certainly ingenious in the extreme.