

General MacNator

(May 2024)

or Duokaitriacontacracy¹

or How NATO² is necessarily invincible against the rest of the world

The reason is simply that, according to military theorist Võ Nguyên Giáp von Clausewitz:

32 dazzlingly brilliant, supremely wise, and unreservedly well experienced politicians, never with a single dissenting view, assembled in an Areopagus which requires unconditional consensus for each and every minute decision, are much more likely to be considerably more effective militarily than 1 larger than life general, while, however, all of them Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb³.

¹ From Greek δύο και τριάκοντα: thirty-two, and κράτος, force

² With real photographs of NATO's governing executives

³ 1964, sixty years ago (you can't blame some short memory, since most politicians were not even born yet)